Raymond Roping Club Sponsors Successful Rodeo

There were approximately eight hundred people present at the Amateur Rodeo sponsored by the Raymond Roping Club on September 3rd. The show was a good one, even if it was a little too long — that just signifies the high interest of the young and not so young rodeo contestants in this area. Cliff Williams, President of the Club, and Secretary Allan Heggie, with all the members and helpers are to be commended for their fine job. Mel Lybbert was the very able Rodeo Director.

Following are the winners of the jack-pot show:

Saddle Bronc Riding: George Good-Striker, Mote Still, Jesse Three Persons.

Bareback Bronc Riding: Dean Lybbert, Roy Berzey, Derald Albertson.

Wild Horse Race: Gordon Heggie, Hugh Court, George Goodstriker.

Boys' Steer Riding: Bob Vance, Harmon Collins and Max Gibb, tied, Jim Williams.

Boys' Ribbon Roping: Bobby Warford, Jimmy Gladstone.

Calf Roping: Bobby, Wells Lee Haynes, Irvin Doenz.

Steer Decorating: Ken Shalker, Ray Young Pine.

Girls' Barrel Race: Dixie Forsyth.

Greased Pig: Lynn Hirsche.

In the Branding Contest, for the Challenge Trophy put up by Card and King, the Forsyth Ranch of Cardston, bested a pick-up crew representing the Roping Club by a margin of 41 seconds. This Trophy will be contested for again next year.

Mrs. Frieda Tillack of Stirling is a patient in St. Michael's Hospital in Lethbridge and would welcome visitors.

About twenty-four little friends of Philip Jensen made his birthday a happy occasion on Friday. Games were enjoyed and refreshments to delight a child were served by his mother, Mrs. Raymond Jensen.

With Labor Days the summer's final holiday, Joan Fairfax, CBC's comely singer, gave the day some special consideration with her delightful work-ingman's ensemble. Joan enjoyed the long week-end along with millions of other Canadians but she is now back in the CBQ studios on Wednesday nights to star with Denny Vaughn.

On the occasion of his birthday L. D. King was honored by Mr. and Mrs. Shirley King, Barbara and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meheew, Randy, Betty Ann, Bruce and baby Vonda. A program in which all the children took part was greatly enjoyed, as were Shirley's saxophone selections. Both children and grand-children presented him with gifts after which all enjoyed the delicious supper prepared by Mrs. King.

Mr. and Mrs. Orley Allred visited with relatives and friends here during a three week leave prior to Orley's departure for Germany with the Canadian army. His wife plans to follow in October, but meanwhile she and their three children will be staying with here parents in Turner Valley. They will be in Germany for two years.

Mrs. Alice Court enjoyed visiting with her daughters, Mrs. Ella Henry at Taber and Mrs. Lois Kinniburgh at Purple Springs recently. During her stay she was happy to meet two English ladies, one from her home town in Lancashire and the other from Nottingham. Meeting ones countrymen is like meeting an old friend and this proved a gay experience for each of them.

The Second and Third Ward MIA held a Country Fair on Tuesday evening with the games being enjoyed at the various booths. The displays of art, floral arrangements, handicrafts, copperwork, etc. caused much interest and many favorable comments. The sideshow was an hilarious experience. The husband calling contest was won by Mrs. Phoebe Dahl while the winner of the bean guessing contest was Mrs. Carrie Palmer.

Hot dogs were sold with the prices falling to an all-time low as the evening wore on.

About one hundred and seventy-five people enjoyed the evening of gaiety.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spackman were happy to have their son Grant and his wife Beth and their three children visiting with them recently. Grant's enjoyment in driving the swather on the farm proved both helpful to his dad and relaxing to him, and quite a change from his regular work as supervisor on the Pipe Line of Canada. He makes regular tours through the U.S. lecturing. He also writes an article for a weekly newspaper in Edmonton. Another home-town boy who made good.

Reception Honors Barbara Fairbanks and Richard Sutton

— Happy Couple to Live in Kentucky

Of interest to residents of Raymond and Grantsville, Utah, was the wedding on Wednesday, September 7th, of Barbara Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fairbanks, and Richard Hyrum Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. LeRoy Sutton of Grantsville. The double ring ceremony was performed by Pres. Willard Smith in the Alberta Temple in the presence of relatives and friends.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the home of the bride, where a delicious turkey dinner was served. Piano selections were played by Mrs. Emma Dahl. Out-of-town guests at dinner included Mrs. Mary Parsons of Toole, and Mrs. Cliff Edmunds of Salt Lake City.

A reception for the newly-weds was held Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents with the house decorated in a profusion of fall flowers in wicker baskets, which made a perfect setting for the bride and groom as they received the many guests, assisted by their parents.

Centered on a table was the beautiful white wedding cake decorated with pink rose buds and imbedded in ferns and rosebuds.

The bride was radiant in her gown of beautiful white nylon lace, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and ballerina length bouffant skirt. Her veil, fingertip length, was made of bride's illusion, scalloped in embroidery and hung from a lace pillbox hat trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

The attendants were Geraldine Palmer as Maid of Honor, wearing a pink tulle ruffled in black lace, and Geraldine Keeney in yellow nylon lace, and Barbara Lu Sutton, sister of the groom, in blue nylon tulle, they all carried bouquets of roses.

The petite flower girls, Carolyn Fairbanks, sister of the bride, wore dotted nylon with accordin pleated skirt, and Jolene Edmunds, niece of the groom, in pink nylon, with flowered underskirt. Each carried a nosegay.

Mrs. Fairbanks chose an original model of pink lace with matching corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Sutton's gown was of navy lace with a corsage of pink roses.

Acting as best man was Randall Meeks, life-long friend of Billy Fairbanks, brother of the bride. Wally Fairbanks, the bride's youngest brother also assisted.

Mrs. Fritz Dahl and Mrs. Karl Dahl were in charge of the gift room.

In the lovely basement game room, which was decorated with fall flowers and pink and white wedding bells, the guests were served buffet style and sat at small tables centered with bud vases holding button asters. Mrs. La Verne Anderson was in charge of the lunch room assisted by Mrs. Emma Dahl and Mrs. Martha Taylor.

Miss Mona Palmer was in charge of the guest book.

Assisting in receiving at the door were Mr. and Mrs. Shirley King and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rasmussen.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton left for their honeymoon trip to Louisville, Kentucky, where they will make their home. The groom is a chemical engineer for the DuPont company.

The bride chose for her going-away ensemble an original model of brown taffeta sheath dress and acket with bead trim and matching accessories with a corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Nellie B. Rudd has returned to her employment at the local hospital after a two-week vacation which she spent at home enjoying her family. She and her four daughters spent a very enjoyable day in Lethbridge during her holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Court had as their guests on Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bob French and two children, Bobby and Gail, from Lethbridge. The two families met at the British re-union a year ago, at which time the Frenches were new arrivals from England. They soon adapted themselves to the Canadian way of life and really love it here now.

Things Are Different At Camp Borden Now

"The old army was never like this," smiled a veteran sergeant when 250 CWAC militia members took over Camp Borden's Blackdown Park to undergo summer field training during their eight-day stay. "Cuisine fit for a king," reported the women soldiers after sampling army chow. The girls live in tents, as above, and their training includes courses in signals, army intelligence, secretarial duties, as well as familiarization with the complexities of modern weapons of war.

Bob Brandley, Harlan Taylor and Doral Stone entertained twenty-three guests with their picture of a recent fishing trip, at an outdoor party at the Brandley's barbeque. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dorsey and Fred McEwan of Toronto. The highlight of the party were the barbequed 'Shish-Kabobs'. What are they? A mixed grill on a skewer, consisting of link sausage, mushrooms, cubed pineapple, small pieces of frankfurter, hamburger balls, wrapped in bacon, small lengths of corn on the cob, cucumbers and tomatoes. Yummy, eh? Delicious hot chocolate, candied and buttered popcorn and pop were added to the repast. Needless to say a good time was had by all; and no-one had room for ice cream and cake.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

One of the best ways to tell an inexperienced from an experienced cross-country driver is watch the way they round a curve.

The inexperienced driver usually brakes the car too late, hangs desperately onto the steering wheel, and careens around the bend with tires squealing. The skilled, veteran motorist, on the other hand, takes the curve gracefully and effortlessly.

The experienced driver heeds these principles:— (1) If he needs to slow down for a curve he brakes lightly and gradually, well in advance of it. (2) After entering the turn, he applies enough gas to keep his speed constant or even accelerate gently. Feeding steady power to the wheels helps them grip the pavement, gives better control. This technique enables even women to negotiate even sharp curves without 'fighting' the steering wheel.

Rounding the curve skillfully is not only safer, it's a lot easier on the car and is more comfortable for passengers — they don't feel the centrifugal pull so much. Children, in particular, are less likely to be tossed around

SAND

Sand beside the sea is pretty But in between your teeth is gritty. Sand is soft on joints and sockets But fills your trouser cuffs and pockets. Sand is nice, there is no doubt of it, But once in hair, just won't get out of it. Sand would really be just dandy If only it weren't quite so sandy.

NEIGHBORLY NEWS

At the recent convention of the Saskatchewan Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, C. F. Greene, CBC Neighborly News Editor, did his regular Sunday broadcast from the convention floor. Here he has commandeered the services of John Pinkney, editor of the Rosetown Eagle, to read an item from his own paper. At the mike is CBC Regina announcer, Bill Lorne.

A horse called back another which had bolted, the Sun News-Pictorial reported.

The report said a man was leading two horses across a busy intersection in a Melbourne suburb. Only one of the horses was on a halter.

The other, frightened by the traffic, galloped into a nearby park. The man spoke to the horse he was holding and it whinnied loudly to the runaway.

The runaway stopped galloping, whinnied in reply - and threaded its way back through the traffic.

Someone should warn those 12 Soviet agriculturists studying American farming methods that after a farm is established a realtor may come along and take it over for a suburban shopping center.

At an auction sale we bought a large antique steel door knocker. Through the oval loop at the base we hang a colorful towel. Another decorator tip for your bathroom:— A small salad bowl containing several cakes of soap.

Bill paints brightly colored bands around the handles of our garden tools. It makes them easier to spot in the garden. And by the way, to remove light rust from tools use a piece of rubber cut from an old tire casing. Ask your garageman.

For Safety's Sake:— When attempting to make some electrical repair, always turn off the power. Either pull the main switch, unscrew fuse on the circuit to repair, or disconnect cord from the convenience outlet.

Replace blown fuses with new ones of the same ampere rating. Don't over fuse. Never place pennies or tin foil behind dead ones. Use a flashlight so that you have plenty of light to see exactly what you are doing.

Why not put a plywood board as a divider in the middle of your clothes hamper — use one side for soiled white clothes and the other for colored garments.

Junk jewelry is fashionable again. Gather your old broken strands of pearls and other beads, and restring them in long colorful ropes. Almost any combination is in style. You can use lightweight nylon fish-line leader for string — and if it's stiff enough you won't need a needle.

Extra pot holders — Before you discard a burned or worn ironing pad, cut squares from the still-good parts. Bind each square with bias tape. Use for your every-day pot holders.

Travel Trouble Saver:— When packing your suitcase, seal a few days' supply of bath powder in an envelope instead of packing a bulky box that may spill. Puncture the envelope to shake the powder onto your puff.

A perfectionist, says Bill, is one who takes great pains and gives the same.
